SAFELY RIDE AN ATV?

Circle each item you need to safely ride an ATV.
Check your answers below.

1. An ATV that fits you.
(Check the warning label.)
2. Your helmet and safety gear.
3. An approved ATV training course.
4. A grown-up who is watching you.

Parents:

- Check the ATV's warning label to be sure the ATV is correct for your child.
- Do not let your child ride double on an ATV designed for one rider.
- Check your child's skills:
 - With feet on the footrests, can your child turn the handlebars all the way to the right and left without letting go on either side?

- Can she shift her weight from side-to-side and front-to-back and keep her balance?
- Can he easily move his feet to work the brake pedal and gearshift lever?

If you answered "no" to any of these questions, your child is not ready to ride the ATV. Follow the ATV Safety Institute's "Tips and Practice Guide" at www.atvsafety.org.

The American Academy of Pediatrics strongly advises that children under
